The Queen sits in her Castle Halis, and pomp and wealth are there; And costlest timues for her robes, and diamonds for her hair; And in her Royal Palares proud Lords and Ladies wait, That, going out, or coming in, she may be served in state. The golden cohlets at her board, are filled with choicest wine— The daintiest viands are served up when she sits down to dine; She thinks it but an idle tale—that tale too often told!— Of wretches perishing without, of hunger, and of cold! I saw the Queen ride forth in State—right royally rode she— With England's noblest in her train—a gallast companie; Proud heirs of many an ancient name, and Ladies passing fair, Rich dress and splendid equipage, were brought together there. The high-bred horses seemed to spure the dust beneath their feet As passed the gorgeous pageant through the long and crowded street Yet o'er that splendor one dark thought its solemn shadow threw— The toil of many still must buy the grandeur of the few. The rich, the great, passed on their way, and strange it seem'd to a That of Life's mingled shades, the next, so dark and sad should be A storying mother and her habe—and tenderly she prest, In her mute grief, the form that lay so lifeless on her breast. There had she sat the weary day, and of the erowds that passed Not one upon her misery, a pitying glante had coat; Her little wares my by her side, but none would deign to buy— Unheeded was her wasted cheek—her dim and hollow eye. She looked upon her dying child, who pale and paler grew, And faint, and still more faintly came, each feeble breath he drev And when the tears had passed away, no tears that Mother shed She had no food to give-how could she weep that he was dead? Loy down thy useless pomps. Oh Queen! if happily thou canst fee With noble spirit yield them all to buy the poor a meal: Unbind the jewels from thy brow, and wear thou there instead,

RICHMOND HILL, Ontario co. N. Y. The History of Life.

I saw an infant in its mother's atms, And left it sleeping: Years passed-I saw a Girl, with woman's chaims, Mercy, for those that know not where to look for daily bread.

In sorrow weeping. Years passed-I saw a Mother with a child,

I left her-years had vanished ; I returned, And stood before her: A lamp beside the childless widow burned-Grief's mantle o'er her !

In tears I found her whom I left in tears, On God relying; And I returned again in after years, And found her dying-

An infant first, and then a maiden fair-A wife-a mother-And then a childless widow in despair-Thus met a brother !

And thus we meet on earth, and thus we part To meet-oh! never Till death beholds the spirit leave the heart, To live forever!

To Make a Salad Worthy of a Man of Ensie.

ASCRIBED TO THE REV. SIDNEY SMITH. Two boiled potatoes, strain'd thro' kitchen sieve, Softness and smoothness to the salad give; Of mordant mustard take a single spoon,-Distrust the condiment that bites too soon; Yet deem it not, thou man of taste, a fault, To add a double quantity of salt. Four times the spoon with oil of Lucea crown; And twice with vinegar-procured from town ! True taste requires it, and your poet begs The pounded yellow of two boiled eggs; Let onions' atoms lurk within the bowl, And, scarce suspected, animate the whole; And, lastly, in the flavored compound toss Oh, great and glorious! Oh, herbaceous meat! Twould tempt the dying anchorite to eat; Back to the world he'd turn his weary soul, And dip his finger in the salad bowl.

Impromptu. TO KATE CAROL.

When from your gems of thought I turn To those pure orbs, your heart to learn, I scarce know which to prize most high-The bright i-dea or bright dear-eife.

The many persons using this stove, in this and other cities, declare themselves delighted with its operation, and bear testimony of its superiority over any other cooking stove ever offered to the public. In addition to its unsurpassed facilities for boiling, roasting, broiling, &c. it has the advantage of having an oven nearly wise as large as any other stove in use, which is heated with the most perfect uniformity, by which bread without being turned will bake on all sides as perfectly as can be done in a brick oven. It requires, also, much less fuel than is generally used in other cooking stoves, one half the ordinary quantity being amply sufficient for all purposes.

For the operation of the stove we fespectfully refer to the following the ordinary quantity being amply sufficient for all purposes.

ANOTHER ASTONISHING CURE! Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, ALWAYS TRIUMPHANT! In its onward Victorious Career! 4 4 4 4 4 4 4

DATTON, Feb. 11th, 1845 Ma. J. W. WHITHORE: Door Ser :- As you are the regular authorized agent in Dayton, for the sale of "Dp. Wistan's Bataan or Willo Cressey," I take this method of making a statement of facts to you (which I hope may be published to the world) in reference to an almost minaculous cure, wrought in my case by means of the above invaluance Salsan.

Language fails to describe the salutary effects it produced, and the great benefit I derived from its use.

The citizens of Dayton and vicinity, well recollect that on the 8th of Abgust last, I received serious injury from the explosion of a cannon. A portion of its contents entered in a right side and breast; and in all probability, some fragments or splinters of the ramrod passed through the "plura," and pierced the Lungs.

After the lapse of about six weeks, I was attacked with a distress-ring cough and violent poin in my right sule. Some ten days after this, when in a pararysm of Coughing, suddenly an alcer broke, and a large quantity of very offensive matter, mixed with blood, was discharged; most of which found passage through the opening of the wound. From this opening there frequently passed a quantity of air, supposed to issue from the lungs. During all this time my suffering a were almost intelerable. My physicians, meanwhile, paid the strictest attention to me, and did all in their power for my recovery. But with all their skill, they rould not reach the seat of distress, ever the Lange and become effected. was visit d during this time by at least twenty Physicians.

It was now reduced to a certainty, that inflammation of the lungs was rapidly taking place; and that this would terminate my life in a very At this critical stage, a messenger was despatched to Cincinnati, and a celebrated Physician of that place was consulted. When he was made acquainted with my situation, he remarked that nothing ould be done by medical aid, if the constitution itself was not suffi ient to throw off the disease.

My friends now despaired of my recovery, and I had no earthly described, viz: "Wistan's Balsam or Willo Chenny," which re-lieved me almost immediately. After I had used some five or six bot-tles, I so far recovered as to be up and about. My cough ceased, and my lungs were restored to a healthy state—all from the healing and balmy influence, and powerful medicinal virtues of Wistan's Halsam. Were it not for the external injury I received in the shoulder and arm by the explosion, I feel confident that I might have been working nt my trade (which is blacksmithing,) but this lins prevented.

By exposure, I have since taken several severe colds; and my only remedy has been "THE BALRAM." And I now most cordially recom-mend the genuine Wester's Balsam to all who are afflicted with Cours, Coughs, of Lung Complaints. I consider it an invaluable medicine—a real blessing to the world. Any person desiring further information may call on me at any time. Yours truly, CHRISTOPHER R. SMITH. City of Dayton,
